What it does: Landscaping and lawn maintenance for golfing and residential maintenance-free communities and landscape installation, renovation and design for individuals and builders.

Why it's growing: Increased numbers of people settling locally, especially retiring baby boomers, has created more demand for high-end quality work.

What's noteworthy: CEO Joe Gonzalez bought the business for his father-in-law to "tinker around with," but since the mid-90s has grown the business from $250,000 in annual revenues to almost $13 million.
